

Written, February 1987

Change

What a turn around
Changes: that's what life is all about
People grow, People mature
Some days you wish everything would just
Stop and freeze
It's scary thinking of the future
Growing up, trying to make your dreams come true
You'll wonder till your very last day
Did you make the right choices?
Who's to decide? If you did it another way
Who knows where you'd be today
Remember it's healthy to change, if it wasn't
The world would be dull!

© Gayle Weisman, August 2002