

Wait A Second

The air flows through Breath in Breath out
Not too miraculous yet you take it for granted
We all do- but wake up and smell the coffee
Walking down the street we tend to forget
We can walk; we have food in our stomachs
One in awhile we must think of the less fortunate People think “why worry about their problems – when I have so many of my own?”
Why? Because you are one and they are many
And many is what makes this world what it is Do take one second out of your day
If you are really ambitious take some action, give some Just remember one day you could be wishing Someone would take one second out of his or her day ~ for you.
